

Tan Charmeuse Gown With Ecrú Lace, To Be Worn on Semi-Formal Occasions

Evening World's Original Fashions for Home Dressmakers.

All questions concerning designs and materials should be addressed to the Fashion Editor of The Evening World. No patterns for designs in this column can be obtained, but with the description furnished it is a simple matter to work out patterns.

A new and distinctive feature of this department is the illustration of the different pieces of the pattern necessary for the making of the garment. It shows how easily the attractive design can be executed, and also serves as a guide in cutting one's own pattern if such is needed.

DESCRIPTION.

Of tan color charmeuse, this frock is delightful for afternoon wear. A short over-tunic of ecru lace is slashed at the belt line, where a wash of old blue satin slips through and ties in loops and end on the left side. A band of the lace confines the slight fullness at the knees and frills of lace finish the long sleeves. A collar blue chiffon cloth starts at the neck in front and drops to the belt line in back.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.

Dear Fashion Editor:
Will you advise me how to make over a black silk pongee dress, a princess model? I find in ripping it apart that I will not have enough for an up-to-date model. Is there any other silk I can use with it? And thirty years of age, 40 bust, and as I make my own clothes, would like something simple. MRS. B.

Black satin would combine nicely with your goods, making it a long sleeve, a pointed front portion in the waist which terminates below the belt 3 inches. Trim up the centre with blue glass buttons, which should also be used on the sleeves. Use a small yoke and collar of cream net, also sleeve cuffs. If any more satin is needed, make a wide back panel of it from a straight piece of goods, gathering it into the belt line.

Dear Fashion Editor:
I have a yellow satin dress, the drapery of which has become soiled. Will you advise me how to remodel it with a new drapery? Have about one yard of hand made yellow flowers and leaves. Would like blue, unless you suggest something prettier. Am eighteen years old, dark hair and eyes, fair skin. Little color and no teeth. J. T.

Make a panel draped tunic, varying from rosette trimming in diagonal line from the right shoulder to the left side of the tunic, allowing the right skirt portion to be draped into the back, while the left waist portion drapes in the manner. Have tiny puff sleeves in one with the tunic, gathered into a cord. Old blue velvet ribbon fastening in a bow in back could finish the belt line.

Dear Fashion Editor:
I have a pongee coat and thought of having it colored dark blue and have it made into a dress. Would greatly appreciate suggestions from you as to trimming and perhaps you might suggest some other color. Have light brown hair, grey eyes. MRS. A. H. M.

Dark blue is a good color and would dye well. By means of two plaits at the knee line drape your side skirt over into a front panel which extends to the bust line, being trimmed with buttons and simulated eyelets each side. Finish the long sleeves with an unusual design of chambray color wool satins, corresponding with the deep square yoke and rolling collar of same.

Dear Fashion Editor:
Inclosed find a sample of dress goods of which I want to make a dress for my fourteen-year-old daughter. Please tell me how to make it and what trimming to use. Would like to have it made girlish, also plain. MRS. J. F.

Gather the blouse portion into a band of rosettes just below the bust where an upstanding ruffling of lace adds distinction. The crushed belt of blue satin drops a loop in the back, showing its full width, and puffed out in front effect. Trim the skirt also with the band with the rosette trimming and upstanding ruche used to head a scholastic ruffle of fine lace, the same of which trims the round neck of the waist, falling prettily over the shoulders.

REPROVES WOMAN FOR STRIKING LITTLE MAN.

"He Hit Me, First," Says Mrs. Hagenbach, but Court Utters Warning.

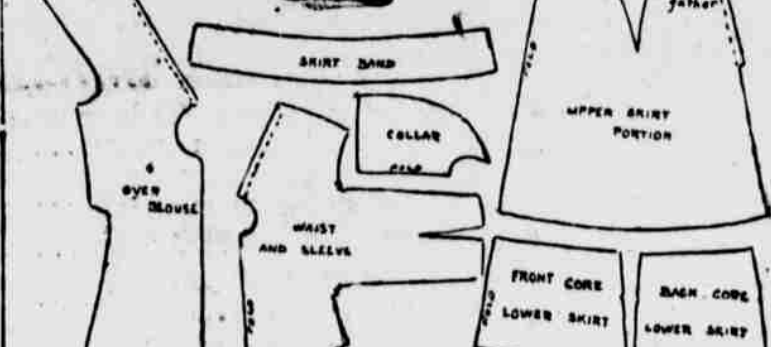

Mrs. Mary Hagenbach is 4 feet in height without her hat and tips the scales at 200 pounds. She has a candy store at No. 124 Halsey street, Brooklyn, and a ten-year-old son named George. Henry Arit, who has a real estate office next door, is 5 feet 8 inches and weighs, say, two-thirds as much as his neighbor. Both were before Magistrate Voorhees in the Gates Avenue Court today.

"This woman struck me," testified Arit, peering from behind a blue-coated forehead. "The boy was up to some mischief and I slapped him. Then she came out into the street and attacked me."

"He hit me first, Judge," interrupted Mrs. Hagenbach. When I told him I was capable of doing my own family punishment at home he struck me. Of course I hit him back. I don't deny it."

"Name on you," said the Magistrate. "A big woman like you striking a little man like this. This time I'll dismiss the case, but if you ever come before me again, Mrs. Hagenbach, on a similar charge, it will go harder with you."

The court floor shook beneath the indignant whacks of Mrs. Hagenbach's heels as she withdrew.

Madeira Handkerchiefs, each 39c
Hand-Embroidered. Other stores, not having our manufacturing facilities, sell them at 50c to 75c

This was the first American house to appreciate the commercial possibilities of the beautiful handwork done by Madeira Island natives. It established a local headquarters to direct the development of this industry, and today imports by far the largest quantity of Madeira handwork of any retail house. The large percentage saved by dealing direct with the natives is demonstrated by these Handkerchiefs at 39c, which are scalloped and beautifully embroidered on pure linen.

New and specially priced Women's Initialled Shamrock Linen Handkerchiefs, the initial surrounded with floral spray. Have retailed at $1.25 a half dozen; our price, 64c.

Women's Irish Linen Handkerchiefs, with hand-thread-drawn, eighth or quarter-inch hems. Imported from our Belfast headquarters. Elsewhere 75c each. Our price, 15c.

Men's Initialled Handkerchiefs, Six for 74c
Pure Irish Linen, Elsewhere $1.00
Full size, with choice of three widths of hems; the initial done in openwork embroidery.

The Right Corset

will round a thin woman's angles and subdue a stout woman's curves. But the right corset is something on which you need the advice of an expert. We suggest that you consult with the head of our Corset Department as to which styles are best suited to your figure. She is amply qualified to advise you, as she does hundreds of other well-dressed women in the course of the year. Most women are delighted with the different models of the a domestic produced exclusively for us, after the best foreign designs. It is custom made, admirably boned with walton to hold the form in modish lines, and agreeably dainty in fabrics and trimming. Fittings attended to by experts; Prices from $4.49 to $12.89.

Women who make it a rule to wear imported Corsets will find satisfaction and profit in the

which is made for us abroad, in models furnished to no other American store. The "Comtesse" is the last word in corset-designing. It combines a purity of outline with complete personal comfort beyond any other foreign make sold at similarly low prices. The new models, in corsets, and white and pastel-colored brocades, are $6.94 to $19.89.

Brassieres, 98c to $7.94
Every well-known make, and many special designs, exclusive with us. Probably more kinds in a full range of sizes than any other store shows. At least so our customers tell us.

Stout women who desire to reduce the form find Rubber Brassieres an aid. Our price is $7.94. Elsewhere $10.00.
